Simple is better !

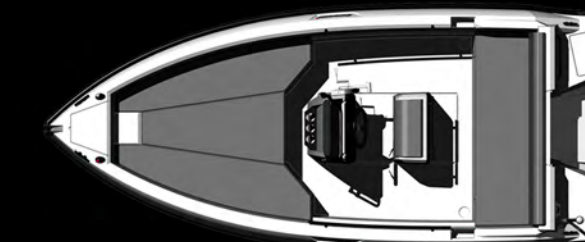

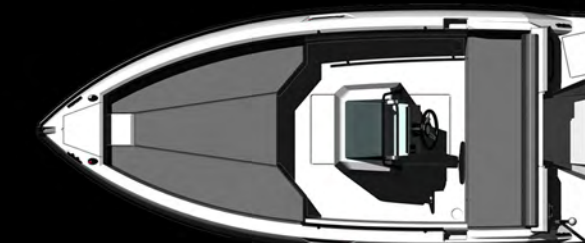

The new Compass 160e is an extremely user friendly entry-level boat built according to the latest Compass boats standards, that promote manufacturing simplicity along with modern ergonomic design. The hull is extremely efficient giving the most optimal setting for small engines and electric motors and provides effortless cruising for the younger boaters. The deep freeboard along with the luxurious and friendly deck layout will make you feel relaxed and safe under all weather conditions. The deck is available in two different layout configurations, one with a large center console placed further aft, for extra comfort and ease of movement around the boat, and another with a small center console and a separate driver's seat/box for extra storage and more seating space. On both layouts the v-shaped bow storage cabinets can be converted to a large and comfortable sun-deck.

New, original and innovative designs that originate from our love for the sea.

All our new models are designed by our design team with the collaboration of MEKY, using 3d CAD technology. All models are built according to the latest EU Directives and other related requirements, and all ISO Standards for design and construction of boats are met.

Prototypes are constructed with the use of an in-house CNC machine that cuts foam blocks with the precision of 1mm, ensuring perfect fit of components and gives outstanding sea keeping capabilities to our boats, due to the perfectly mirrored surfaces of our hull designs.

More than five decades of experience and knowledge on boatbuilding.

Since the founding of the company, and for over 50 years, the basic principle of Compass Boats is to offer its customers a high quality well built boat that will give them trouble-free and carefree moments of joy and leisure making them very proud owners. Always committed to this goal, and in order to achieve and ensure it, we give great importance to the initial design of our boats and to all stages of their construction during the production process, from gel-coat and lamination to final assembly, following and faithfully adhering to a set of rules and strict specifications. All raw materials as well as all the accessories we use, are supplied by the most reputable companies in the boating industry and of course having all the necessary CE certificates.

The great differentiation of Compass boats, that makes them top both in cruising and durability as well as in safety and robustness, lies in the fact that they are built exclusively with the “Compass S4” method.

According to it, a third separate molded part is used inside the boat which is bonded to the hull before its final hull and deck bond. This extra part is designed with great detail and attention, it is unique for each model and incorporates all the reinforcing structure and the storage space inside the cabinets.

The main advantages of the construction with the “S4” method are:

- Creates an extremely rigid and robust construction
- Unsinkable feature
- Increases internal storage.
- Creates smooth and glossy storage spaces which not only give the boat a visibly higher quality, but also become very easy to clean.
- Minimize the use of wood.
